

Double Your Sunday School Class Coaching Process

The goal of Double Your Class Coaching Process is to help churches lead their teachers to double every two years or less. The process is a series of six two-day coaching workshops. Each workshop will begin with a Saturday evening fellowship/ meeting and end with a Monday morning staff evaluation.

This process is highly relational. We want to get to know and love your people and impart our love for Sunday School and doubling groups.

Double Your Class Coaching Overview:

- Six workshops over nine months.
- Each workshop will be two days. It will begin with a Saturday night fellowship and end with a staff meeting on Monday morning.
- The Saturday night fellowship will be a relationship building time, as well as a listening time. I want to listen to and uncover people's concerns about the vision of doubling groups. I want to answer objections to embracing the vision and seek to get buy-in on an individual basis from the leaders.
- Every other workshop will have a conference on Sunday afternoon.
- Every other workshop will include some individual time with key leaders in the church on Sunday afternoon.

Double Your Class Coaching Workshop Summary

Here are some specific goals for each workshop:

Coaching Workshop #1:

Introduce hospitality-based growth.
Get buy-in from the staff about the vision of doubling groups.

Coaching Workshop #2:

Get buy-in from early adopters—a small core of laymen in the church who will spread the idea through there rest of the church.

Coaching Workshop #3:

Get buy-in from the innovators. We are not yet to the mainstream, but a sizeable core of teachers who are embracing the vision.
To celebrate early victories of what hospitality can do.

Coaching Workshop #4:

Continue to spread the idea deeper and wider. Move into mainstream
Celebrate victories. Trouble-shoot problems.

Coaching Workshop #5:

Establish habits and systems of making the doubling system a lifestyle we can live with for a long time.

Coaching Workshop #6:

Celebrate victories. Vision cast about the future. Insure that systems are in place to continue the movement.
